The Spring of the Year.

Of all the remedies which have ever been discovered to prepare the human system for the change which it undergoes when lapsing from winter to spring, and from spring to summer, none have ever equaled that thorough and compiete vitalizing Tonic and Alterative, known as Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher. Whilst it renews the vital organs, it at the same time imparts a healthful influence to those functions whose office it is to throw off the effects and worn out debris that clog and obstruct the animal organism.

Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher is of all medicines the most proper one to be taken at this season of the year, and any one whose liver or stomach, skin or kidneys, are deficient in action, it will impart to one and all of them a healthy and vigorous tonicity, and a guard against sickness for the remainder of the year. Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher, taken to the extent of half a dozen bottles, will purify the system and render it invulnerable against the malarial influences incident to the usual changes of the season of the year.

It not only does this, but by the wonderful power which it imparts to the stomach and liver, and thereby rendering the blood pure, it rebuilds the crumbling frame, and gives health and vivacity where torpor and sluggishness formerly prevailed. Look at the vast number of cures it has performed in the midst of our own people. See the ghastly scrofulas, the loathsome tetters, the thousands of other blood taints which mantled themselves upon the surface, and you will give credit to one of the most extraordinary medicines of modern times. Dr. Keyser has in his possession hundreds of cures made by this Blood Searcher, after the most painful and dangerous cutting operations had failed to cure, and he deems it his duty to make known these cures to the public, in order that those who may be afflicted in like manner may also be benefitted.

Ask for Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher, and take no other. If your Druggist does not keep it, write to Dr. Keyser, Pittsburgh, Pa., and he will forward by express. $1 per bottle, six for $5.

The Best Known Tonic.

Caswell, Mack & Co.'s Combination of Iron Phosphorus and Calisaya, known as Ferro-Phosphorated Elixir of Calisaya. The iron restores color to the blood; the Phosphorus relieves waste of the nerve tissue, and the Calisaya gives a natural, healthful tone to the digestive organs.

One pint contains the virtue of one ounce of Calisaya and one teaspoonful a grain of Iron and Phosphorus. Manufactured by

CASWELL, MEAK & CO., New York.

For sale by all druggists. s

CONDENSED NEWS.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

Judge Underwood has issued a writ of habeas corpus for the purpose of bringing Jeff. Davis before his court at Richmond, on the 13th inst.

John S. Monroe, ex-Mayor of New Orleans, has been on a visit to President Johnson, to complain of the action of Gen. Sheridan in deposing him.

The radicals expect to be successful in the coming municipal election in New Orleans.

It is rumored that Postmaster General Randall has tendered his resignation.

There was a fall of snow at New York early yesterday morning, sufficient to cover the ground.

Two-thirds of the $300,000 subscribed for the relief of the sufferers by the Portland (Maine) fire, it is said, remains in the hands of the Committee.

The parties contending for the ownership of the Panama Railroad were making quite a lively fight over the matter. The holders of thirty millions of bonds in England have offered the whole of their securities, together with a large amount of money, for the road, but the present owners have bid yet higher, and it was probable that it would still remain in their hands.

At Absecom, N. J., on the 1st ult., Mr. James Yates, residing near New York city, killed his little grandchild by striking it on the head with a hatchet, and then went to his own house and hung himself in his room.

The Merchants' Hotel, corner of State and Washington streets, Chicago, was destroyed by fire on the 15th inst. Loss one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Insured for fifty thousand dollars. Several of the art rooms in the Crosby Opera House were considerably damaged by water.

A mass meeting of colored citizens was held at the African Church, Washington, last evening, to discuss the question, "Shall shall we vote?" About fifteen hundred persons were present. The speakers were both white and colored. Resolutions were unanimously adopted pledging the colored voter's support to the candidates of the Republican party, and no other.

The revolution in Hayti is still in full activity. No election for President had taken place, and General Nisage continued to exercise the functions of Provisional President. General Victorine looms up as the chief of the revolutionists, and had proceeded with troops and cannon to St. Marie to oppose Salnave. Several French war vessels were expected there to enforce the payment of claims due under the treaty stipulations entered into at the establishment of Haytien Independence.

The extensive soap and candle works of Thomas Emery Sons, corner of Vine and Water streets, Cincinnati, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning.

The Japanese Commissioners last night attended a reception given by Secretary Seward, in their honor. They have come here to purchase steamers, arms, machines and books.

Foster Blodgett has been appointed Mayor of Augusta, Georgia. This and other appointments made by the General give universal satisfaction.

A fire yesterday at Winona, Minnesota, destroyed five stores.

THE INDIANA MURDER.

Great Excitement—Preliminary Examination of the Accused—Great Difficulty in Preventing the Prisoner from being Lynched.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

INDIANAPOLIS, May 3.—The money stolen from the Railroad office at Gasport, and the clothes of the murderer, Willis McMinnaway, were found buried under an old camper in McMinnaway's yard. The money and clothes are bloody. Another man implicated has been arrested. The excitement is increasing, and it is feared that the citizens will hang him before night. McMinnaway is a citizen of Gasport, and had been assisting Johns in loading freights and collecting freight bills. His wife says he did not come home till twelve o'clock on the night of the murder, and left at five o'clock in the morning for Quincy.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 3.—At the preliminary examination to-day of McMinnaway, before the Gosport Justice, he was found guilty of murder in the first degree. Judge Eckles adjourned his court at Bloomington, and with the sheriff and owners of the bar went to Gosport. At the conclusion of the preliminary examination, Judge Eckles, Ex-Governor Dunning, and Messrs. Bushkirk and Montgomery, of counsel for the prisoner, addressed the excited crowd of citizens, urging a strict observance of the law. The prisoner was then started under guard of twenty-five men for the jail at Spencer. The excitement is still very great and it was with difficulty that lynching was prevented.

LATER—THE PRISONER TO BE LYNCHED.

LOUISVILLE, May 3.—Dispatches from Gosport, Indiana, to one o'clock this afternoon, state that McMinnaway, the murderer of Johns, the freight operator and station agent, would surely be hung this evening. A platform has been erected in the street to try the prisoner. The excitement was very great.

WASHINGTON, May 3, 1867.

RECONSTRUCTION INJUNCTION ARGUMENT.

The Mississippi injunction case being before the Supreme Court to-day, Robert J. Walker, Esq., made the argument for the petitioners, denying that Congress had the power to pass an act beyond the range of judicial inquiry, and contending that the Constitution provided for such cases as this to be brought before the Court. In replying to Attorney General Stanberry's remarks of last Friday, Mr. Walker maintained that political questions had not been excluded from this Court, and in support of this position he referred among others to the more recent cases of Military Commission and test oath questions, upon both of which the Supreme Court had pronounced their opinions. Mr. Walker quoted various decisions in further refutation of the Attorney General's view that this Court had no jurisdiction in cases of this kind. Judge Curtis followed, and in conclusion, while speaking of the desperate and wholesale sweeping out of the Martial Law Military Reconstruction act, as directly contrary to the Constitution of the United States, he said a broader bill of attainder in its principles had never been passed. It reduced ten millions of loyal and disloyal people to bondage and substituted the gleaming sword and the bristling bayonet for Constitutional guards and the courts of law.

When Mr. Walker had finished, it wanted twenty minutes of five o'clock, and by consultation, the Court said they would hear the Attorney General in reply, on Monday, to which time the Court adjourned.

THE JAPANESE AND THE PRESIDENT.

The Japanese Commissioners, accompanied by Secretary Seward, arrived at the Executive Mansion this morning shortly before the hour of the Cabinet meeting, twelve o'clock, and were presented to the President, who received them in the private reception room. Secretary McCulloch was present. The interview was of that formal character with which the introduction of foreign commissioners or diplomats from foreign countries are conducted. The chief commissioner, who was clad in the official costume of his rank, upon being introduced by the Secretary of State, made a short address to the President, in which he stated his happiness at meeting him, and conveyed to him kind expressions from the Tycoon. That address and those of the Commissioners were read in the original and translated to the President, who expressed to them his pleasure at being favored in seeing them. The particular object of the mission will be conveyed to the Government through the Secretary of State, to whom the Commissioners will be responsible. To-day the Commissioners will receive the cabinet at an early day. At the conclusion of the interview, which lasted only about twenty minutes, the Japanese Commissioners were conducted through the various public rooms of the Mansion. The Japanese design remaining some time.

THE JAPANESE RECEPTION.

At the reception of the Japanese by the President to-day, the Chief Commissioner expressed the earnest wish of the Tycoon for the health of the President and the happiness and prosperity of the people of the United States; that friendly relations might continue, and intercourse between the countries be extended. The President replied, welcoming the Japanese and expressing the belief that their desire for friendly and intimate relations were sincere. The people of America, he said, solicit no territory or has any reason to covet what the other possesses, and that without unnecessary provocation neither can find cause to injure the other injury. We have sought to obtain from the people of Japan no advantage which is not reciprocally granted to us. Whatever difficulties have at any time arisen between some of her people and citizens of the United States, your sovereign has always done all in his power to avert them. We are advancing our frontiers near to Japan, while we opened Saknaea. Several French war vessels were expected there to enforce the payment of claims due under the treaty stipulations entered into at the establishment of Haytien Independence.

The extensive soap and candle works of Thomas Emery Sons, corner of Vine and Water streets, Cincinnati, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning.

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

His Body to be Produced in Richmond on the 13th—His Trial or Release on Bail—Chief Justice Chase Will Not Preside.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

NEW YORK, May 3.—The Post says: On Wednesday last George Shea, counsel for Jefferson Davis, presented a petition to the United States Circuit Court, of the District of Virginia, and moved upon it, before Judge Underwood, for a writ of habeas corpus, directed to General Burton, commanding at Fortress Monroe, to have Jefferson Davis before that Court at Richmond on the second Monday of May. The Judge, after hearing an argument from Mr. Shea, and some deliberation, granted the writ. The writ has been sent to Richmond and has been placed in the hands of the United States Deputy Marshal for immediate service.

If Jefferson Davis is not released on bail by Judge Underwood next week, the President will order his liberation.

Chief Justice Chase sees nothing in the condition of Virginia, under the military bill, to warrant him in departing from his former course in declining to preside at the trial of Jefferson Davis. He will hold no Court in the South until civil authority is so far established as to cease being dependant on military power.

FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

NEW YORK, May 3.—Lima correspondence states that Congress has granted a pension for life to Admiral Tucker, and the widow and family of Admiral Farragut.

The Peruvian steamer Aurora, was abandoned by her captain at Callao, the Government having refused to give a receipt for her, her country being in a revolutionary state.

Outbreaks had occured at various points none of great extent. The religious question was beginning to agitate Peru. The measure of toleration was defeated by a vote of forty-three to forty. A proposition to reduce the clergy property to nationality followed. The priests called a meeting and addressed the people in incendiary language. When the representatives began to arrive they were pelted with stones. The riot was soon quelled until the military were called out. One man was killed and several wounded. The people applauded the action of the police to prevent the Churches from being robbed.

Offensive and defensive treaties had been signed between Peru, Bolivia, Ecuador, Venezuela, Ecquador and Bolivia, and it is believed Chili and Peru will also accept.

FROM CHICAGO.

The Eight Hour Difficulty—Almost a General Suspension of Business—Intimidation and Violence by the Disaffected—Proclamation by the Mayor.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

CHICAGO, May 3.—The action of the eight hour men appears to have brought about almost a general suspension of business, and this city is completely in the hands of the lawless. The riotous spirit is confined entirely to the more ignorant class of laborers, who form the Communistic element in Chicago. These laborers have visited planing mills and other manufacturing establishments during the morning hours, and violence and intimidation were conducted through the various public rooms of the Mansion. The Japanese design remaining some time.

Books at Half Price at Col. J. D. Egan's 41 Sixth Street.

In another column Col. J. D. Egan, the well-known book and news dealer, announces a large collection of law and medical books, classical works, works of fiction, and Sabbath School books at half price. Col Egan's establishment has long controlled the most complete stock of standard works, and no where else can the antiquarian find such a valuable stock of publications which have long since gone out of print. He has also the back numbers of all the popular magazines, which, with his collection of standard literature, he offers at half price. Col. Egan keeps a general assortment of stationery, toy books, stereoscopes and stereoscopic views, and full lines of articles in his line of business, for he is the only practical and experienced binder in the book trade, in this locality, and persons needing any work of that description can entrust it to no better hands. We cheerfully commend Col. Egan to the patronage of our readers, knowing him to be a fair dealing and honorable business gentleman. See his advertisement in another column. The store is at No. 41 Sixth street, a few doors below Smithfield street.

Fair and Festival.

We are pleased to announce to our readers that there will be a Fair and Festival held at Wilkins Hall, the 7th, 8th and 9th of this month, by the ladies of the Seventh Ward Mission Sabbath School. We urge upon our readers to attend, as their object is to raise a fund for the purpose of buying a suitable house for worship. We think christians of all denominations should join with them and contribute freely, as much good can be done by this school if our citizens will only help them buy the house. Being personally acquainted with the ladies having it in charge we cheerfully say, those who will attend cannot spend an evening in a more pleasant way and have a rare chance to show their liberality.

Suicide of a Young Woman—Remorse the Incentive.

Coroner Clawson yesterday forenoon summoned a jury to hold an inquest on the body of a woman named Mollie Griffin, alias Maggie A. Moore, at the house of Mrs. Amelia Robinson, on Pennsylvania avenue, it being represented that death had resulted from poison. The young woman, it appears, was a frail one, and on Thursday evening went to the Mayor's office to inquire concerning a charge of larceny which had been brought against her, and about which, although she had been discharged, she appeared much troubled. She was accompanied by Jennie Howard, also a "boarder" at Mrs. Robinson's, and from the Mayor's office they went to the Postoffice, thence to their lodging place. The woman seemed much distressed, was affected even to tears, and meeting with a male acquaintance, her "lover," when she had reached the house, held a conversation with him. Subsequently she was discovered alone, crying and wringing her hands, and lamenting that in addition to her other troubles, her "lover" had now deserted her; that she was ruined, that she had intended reforming, but that her sister, at Akron, Ohio, would not write to her, and she had now nothing to live for. Her friend Jennie again accompanied her out of the house, suggesting an errand to procure paper with which to write another letter to her sister. Mollie said she wanted whisky, not paper, and they went to a drug store, where Mollie obtained something in a bottle, Jennie did not know what it was, after which they returned home. Mollie wept for over an hour, and becoming exhausted was carried up stairs to her room by Jennie with the assistance of a man. Soon after being taken up stairs Mollie sent her assistants down for water, and on their return they found her lying on the floor drinking out of a vial, which was wrested from her, but found to be empty. From the smell it was judged that it had contained laudanum, but this Mollie denied, saying there was only whisky in it. This was about eleven o'clock in the night, and shortly afterwards she came down stairs and was seized with convulsions. A physician, Dr. J. N. Bavin, was summoned, and administered an emetic, but it proved of no avail. Mollie, in her now most wretched state of mind, said the bottle contained "laudanum, twenty cents' worts, and that she drank it all. At twelve o'clock she was a corpse. A post mortem examination yesterday, however, revealed the fact that she was not enceinte as had been supposed. The inquest returned a verdict in accordance with the facts as above detailed.

Deceased had represented to her associates that she was married to a man named Griffin, and had always given her name as Mollie Adams. She came to the city about a year ago from Ohio, and has relatives in Akron, where she has been living in that State, where, according to her statement, she also had a son, born when she was eighteen years of age. The father of the child, her brother came to the city in search of her, but failed in his mission, she having heard of his arrival and kept herself out of his reach. Remorse for having delivered to have been the incentive to the rash deed. The "unfortunate" was about twenty-two years of age.

There was also another charge of larceny against the unfortunate girl at Alderman Donaldson's, in which she had given bail to appear. The charge was preferred by Amelia Robinson.

SATURDAY, MAY 4, 1867.

THE ALLEGHENY SENATORS.

Seldom have the special interests of this county been so directly involved in the action of the Legislature as during the recent session. Never were those interests more sedulously watched or more intelligently advocated than by Senators BIGHAM and GRAHAM. That failure was experienced on some points of very great importance, was due not to any unfaithfulness or lack of adroitness and force on their part, but to the nature and persistency of the opposition they encountered. When the field was a fair one, they succeeded in every essential particular. Only when outside and extraneous influences were brought to bear against them were they compelled to submit to discomfiture.

Mr. GRAHAM has another year of his second term to serve. At the close of the late session he was chosen Speaker. This distinction was the just result of his uniform courtesy, care, diligence, ability and integrity.

Mr. BIGHAM is reaching the end of his first term. The welfare of the county demands that he be chosen for a second. There are Senators who surpass him in oratorical grace; but there is not one who has a fuller comprehension of the details of legislation, a more intimate knowledge of the condition and general needs of the State, or of the particular wants of the district he represents. In several important respects he is by odds the most useful member of the Senate. Upon his official integrity there is not a blemish. His place, should he vacate it, cannot easily be made good. His constituents, in view of his qdalifications and services, will doubtless insist on his continuing for another term.

A FALLACY EXPOSED.

For months past the Free Trade organs of this country have insisted that the schedules of duties levied on foreign goods, wares and merchandise were so high that commerce with other nations was paralyzed and likely to cease altogether. They have repeatedly compared the external revenue laws to a sort of Chinese wall, built around the country, to prevent commercial intercourse with outsiders and have expatiated at length and earnestly upon the deprivation of the natural right of each man to buy his supplies where he can get them cheapest, and all that sort of thing.

British official returns of exports for the past year show how little truth there was in all this heated declamation. The exports to the United States were twelve per cent. larger than during any preceding twelve months. The aggregate is over one hundred and forty millions of dollars in gold. That is a handsome figure for a traffic said to be annihilated, or tending to that result. It was a full quarter of the entire foreign commerce of the Kingdom. So, then, notwithstanding our exclusiveness, we seem to have been vastly more prodigal in our dealings than the average of mankind.

The fact is, after all the cry raised, there has been no falling off, but an increase, of intercourse with other nations. And this is one of the direct and legitimate consequences of Protection. Statements have, indeed, been made of the diminished amount of tonnage registered as belonging to citizens of this country; but whatever may be the fact on this head, there is no doubt of the unprecedented value of the traffic carried on. During the rebellion the Anglo-Confederate privateers made such havoc of American ships as to constrain many owners to seek and obtain foreign registries for their vessels. It may be this circumstance has some relation to the diminution of American tonnage and the increase of British. This is certain, the carrying is still done, and it our shipowners do not get their share of it they have lost something of their former skill and enterprise. Instead of grumbling, they had better address themselves to the work of recovering their lost advantages.

THE WHEAT CROP.

In early times New England produced considerable quantities of wheat, and a good quality. The crop was continued until the settlement of Central and Western New York, when it was abandoned, partly because the peculiar properties of soil essential thereto had become exhausted; partly because manufacturing industry, more profitable than agricultural on the rugged land of that region, had been called into existence; and partly because of the superior adaptedness of larger districts of New York to the growth of grain. About thirty years sufficed to exhaust the soil of Central New York so as to render the wheat crop unremunerative. Even in the Western Section the average has fallen off, and the quality deteriorated. Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois were successively looked to for the best white wheat, and have in turn failed. The present supply is drawn mainly from Missouri and Kansas. This discloses a startling unthriftiness in the manner of farming, and indicates a period, should no change for the better occur, when the finer sorts of wheat will be unknown among us.

It has been suggested that upon the clearing up of a new country innumerable swarms of insects, unfriendly to retreat, are destroyed in the burning fallows; which gradually return, and with the lapse of years make inroads upon the crop; but this solution is altogether inapplicable to timberless prairies, and does not explain that diminished nature of soil, which renders the production of the more valuable sorts of grain impracticable. In Europe, under better tillage, after one or two thousand years of use, the lands continue to yield wheat of the best descriptions, and in larger abundance than with us. In England the average production is one-half larger to the acre than in this country; and in France a quarter larger. While we boast of the natural superiority of our soils, and the possibility of the West becoming the granary of the world, a remedy must be found for this deterioration, or it will not be difficult to compute the era when we shall have trouble in raising bread for ourselves.

The high rates commanded for wheat during a few years past, has stimulated even the people of New England to restore the vigor of their farms, and this season a considerable breadth of wheat has been sown. In a number of the Western States full thirty per cent. more land is now in this crop than ever before. Last spring the people of the Southern States were misled by the high price of cotton, and devoted their best energies to it. Not only was the crop damaged, but under a plentiful supply from other regions the price broke down. The result was wide-spread distress. This year more grain has been put in, and less cotton. If the season shall prove favorable, after harvest the South will have bread enough of its own. In many portions of Pennsylvania, for several years past, wheat has encountered serious trouble from insects. Still, a full average is on the ground this season.

It is reasonable to conclude, therefore, that flour, in the course of ninety days, will recede in market value, and fall to as low a point as it has reached during the last ten years. Such a result would conduce greatly to adjusting the controversy between employers and workmen, in manufacturing and mechanical employments, respecting prices.

This calculation will be interfered with to some degree, if a war shall occur in Europe, and particularly if that war shall become general. Still, it must be remembered that the wheat crop is already in, and, except such destruction as might necessarily follow campaigning, will be harvested. If need be, the governments will make special arrangements to that end. If the apprehended war should extend beyond the current year, the ensuing crop would be much interfered with and lessened; but its continuance, in view of all the recent instances, can hardly be anticipated. European countries, likely to be involved in conflict, are so densely populated, the art of war has been brought to such perfection, and the national burdens are already so heavy, that lengthened wars seem to be almost impossible.

In view of all the facts it is reasonably safe to expect mid-summer will bring cheap bread.

A FRAUDULENT CLAIM.

The coterie who surround President JOHNSON, and get gain by applauding his conduct, claim that much credit is due him because, after opposing the Military Government Act to the fullest degree in his power, he is carrying it into execution. We do not so understand the case. When a man accepts a public office he enters into a definite contract to perform all the duties appertaining thereto. For fulfilling that engagement he is entitled to no more special consideration than the mechanic who, for a stipulated sum, agrees to build a house, and acquits himself duly of the job. It would disgrace the President or the mechanic to bind himself to the performance of a particular work, and then do it in a bungling or deceitful manner, or fail altogether. A good master builder is, indeed, held in honor for his skill and integrity, and so is a President or other magistrate. Beyond this it is difficult to see how a President is entitled to praise.

It is not straining a point to conclude that any man inducted into the Presidential office, if he should make deligent search through the statutes at large, would find many laws not to his liking. They were made before his accession to the place, and his judgment of them can neither lessen their validity or tend in any way to their repeal. In taking office, he is sworn, not simply to enforce such of the laws as he thinks wholesome, but all the laws there are, whenever occasion shall arise. He is an executive officer; not a legislator. Armed with the veto power, it is not to enable him to make or unmake laws, but as a check upon hasty or inconsiderate action by the law-making bodies, which always have the ability to set aside his objections and perfect a contemplated enactment, as has been often done of late. The duty of the President to enforce a law whose passage he tried to hinder, is as palpable as his duty touching any other law whatever. Indeed, a chief magistrate duly sensitive in regard to his official and individual honor would be specially careful that a law from which he withheld his assent should be enforced so exactly as not to raise a suspicion of his fidelity.

Whether the President has been so careful as his adulators claim, or whether his carefulness, so far as he has evinced any, has resulted from a sense of duty or a sense of fear, every one must judge for himself. Mr. HENRY S. FOOTE states that a member of the last Congress, from one of the Southern States, told him "that when the first military reconstruction bill was pending in Congress, President Johnson formally advised him and other members from the South to return to their respective homes and aid in causing the Constitutional Amendment to be rejected, promising that in the event of their success in attaining this object, he would veto the military bill, and if even it should be passed over his head, he would refuse to execute it." That does not sound like zeal to do an unpleasant duty. It sounds rather like a deliberate pledge to let duty go undone, and to do that from which he was absolutely excluded. Here was a Constitutional Amendment pending. In it the President was allowed no voice at all; and yet he was clearly prostituting the authority of his high office to defeat it. In his efforts to accomplish that result, he went so fas as to declare that if a certain Military Government bill should be passed into a law over his head, he would refuse to execute it. Why, then, does he enforce the existing Military Government law? Clearly his doing so is in violation of his promise. Is it pretended he has become more observant of his oath and his duty under it? Such an inference is possible, but strong corroborative proof is requisite to make it stand; which proof is lacking. It is manifest, rather, that his fears were operated on, and so his conception of duty quickened. That motion for impeachment restrained him from a policy that in face of day would have made his arraignment indispensable. So far, then, the impeachment business has been productive of good. It has overawed the President, and compelled him, against his wishes and commitments, to do his duty. But Honesty that stays so because well watched cannot be trusted out of sight.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON with some of the members of his Cabinet have engaged to visit a number of the Southern States within a few weeks. This announcement naturally suggests that a repetition of last summer's "swinging around the circle" is intended. Friends of the administration, both of democratic and republican antecedents, are earnestly urging the exclusion of speech-making from the programme. Some of the most strenous are of those who shared largely in last year's adventure, and got enough of it. It is instructive to consider the reasons they now urge why the President should maintain a dignified silence. "It is impossible to deprive his utterances on public questions of a semi-official character." But that was just as true last season, when he was urged to take the stump, and his coarse invectives were applauded as a superior sort of eloquence. Then it is suggested, that while the President "is a very eloquent and effective popular orator, he does not very happily combine that character with the dignity and sense of propriety essential to his office." That is putting it mildly. He is bowed out with a deferential air, but none the less bowed out. His eloquence is rated as superb; only it is not adapted to the time and place. But he is hit even harder than that. He is bluntly told "his western tour last fall did more than any other one cause to arrest the influence of the Philadelphia Convention and alienate the public from the policy he had pursued." He was eloquent and effective, and his policy popular; but with all these advantages he continued so to use them as to make both himself and his policy odious. From friends, such representations can hardly be called flattering.

GENERAL NEWS.

—The Detroit Tribune has been making investigations into the wealth of the colored people of that city. It publishes a list of over thirty persons, worth from two thousand five hundred to fourteen thousand dollars in real estate, and says that it has prepared a census, which would require too much space to publish, containing the names of sixty-seven other persons, owners of real estate to the value of from five hundred to twenty-five hundred dollars. The aggregate of real property held by colored people in Detroit is not far from $275,000. Their personal property may be estimated at about as much more. This amount of wealth is the more remarkable, as many of the holders are fugitive slaves or their descendants. When the Fugitive Slave Law of 1850 was passed, the heads of about forty colored families fled from Detroit into Canada.

—The Michigan City, Indiana, Enterprise says there are three German girls living eight miles from town who walk in to the German school every day and return at night. They missed but one week during the cold, hard winter, and were only detained then because of their mother's sickness.

—Gaius Hamilton, of Union, Branch county, Michigan, a native of Ireland, came to this country when eleven years old, and is now 102 years of age. His hearing is very poor, eyesight somewhat impaired, walks as well as most men of sixty-five or seventy, and his general health is good.

—A Paris letter to the Chicago Republican says Head Center Stephens is living comfortably in that city with his wife and brother-in-law. He complains of poverty, yet has money to pay for long rides in hacks, and makes secret visits to the English Embassy.

—In Professor Phelps' book, entitled "The Still Hour," occurs the following sentence: "The stillness of the hour is the stillness of a dead clam at sea," the printer, and not the author, was responsible for the substitution of "clam" for "calm."

—The Superior Court Judges in Massachusetts are in luck. The salary of the Chief Justice is $3,600, and of the Associate Justices, $3,400; but a bill is now going through the Legislature to raise those salaries to $4,500 and $4,200 respectively.

—Hon. D. D. Burns, of Weston, Platte county, Mo., died a few days since, and was buried with Masonic honors. He was a native of Morgan county, Indiana, and forty-five years of age at the time of his death.

—A regular bounty is paid by the English Government for every authenticated case of a triple birth. The Court Journal complains that they are becoming too frequent, and calls for an investigation.

—Mr. C. H. Bennett, the well known English draughtsman on wood, is dead. His illustrations of Pilgrim's Progress are well known in this country. He was in the thirty-eighth year of his age.

CONVINCING.

FULTON, Cayuga Co., July, 1866.

MESSRS. HOSTETTER & SMITH—Gentlemen: I have been severely afflicted with paralysis of the stomach, and ever given up by several eminent physicians. I have taken several bottles of your tonic and stimulating bitters, but without any good result. Some three or four months ago I was induced to try your STOMACH BITTERS, and have used about seven or eight bottles with a decided benefit. My health is greatly improved; and I consider your bitters the only efficacious remedy of their kind in the market. If used as directed, they will always prove a sovereign remedy to those afflicted with dyspepsia or other diseases of a like nature.

Respectfully yours, LYMAN MUDGE.

HASTINGS, Dakota Co., Minn., Aug., 1866.

MESSRS. HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa.—Gentlemen: Your STOMACH BITTERS received since they were brought out, and consider them the best among the many before the public. Those brought out since the tax has been imposed on spirits are crash. I never recommend them. Respectfully and truly yours,

H. J. MARVIN.

COLON, St. Joseph Co., Mich., July 31, 1866.

MESSRS. HOSTETTER & SMITH—Gentlemen: I consider your BITTERS a sovereign balm for a thousand ills. Yours truly, PINUS CANADENSIS.

A tree which is abundant in Canada, Nova Scotia, and the more northern parts of the New England States, and is also found in the elevated and mountainous regions of the Middle States, and abounds in medicinal virtues. Dr. Swett, of Boston, has prepared a medicine from the sweet inside bark of the pine tree, called PINELAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND, which is one of rare value in all debilitated states of the kidneys. It acts like a charm in all diseases of mucous membranes, enabling them to regain their lost tone and energy. It will be found well adapted to all those diseases, where Tarbo has been tried and failed. It is likewise well suited to chronic coughs, and an infallible specific for old and debilitated cases of asthma. Many persons who at first only took a bottle of this medicine, to try, afterwards came back and got a dozen, or half dozen, which effected radical cures of diseases of the bladder and kidney of years standing.

Diabetes, a disease that has been looked upon as among the incurable, is immediately relieved by it. Notice the certificate of Asa Goodhue, published some time ago.

The United States Dispensatory, speaking of the pine, says: "It is prescribed in leucorrhœa, fluor, and other diseases of the urinary passages; in piles and chronic inflammation or ulceration of the bowels, in chronic catarrhal affections, and in various forms of rheumatism. It is exceedingly valuable in all gravelly affections, bloody urine, and when chyle is red and sandy sediment. It can be taken without interruption to one's usual avocations, and instead of sickening, produces a healthy appetite, healthy power of endurance and vigor. Price, $1 per bottle; six for $5. Ask for PINELAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND. For sale by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at DR. KEYSER'S Great Medicine store, 140 Wood street. ap20

The Pittsburgh Gazette,

SATURDAY, MAY 4, 1867.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

Special Correspondence the Pittsburgh Gazette.

WASHINGTON, April 30, 1867.

The eyes and hearts of politicians and patriots are now turned toward the South. Out of the "formless void" a new world is there gradually appearing; as the post-diluvian globe emerged to the glad sun after the storm and night of the deluge. The so long despised and rejected African—the stone rejected by the builders—is become the head of the corner. The ballot is the transforming power; the more than kingly sceptre; the open sesame; the patent of nobility; the recognition of manhood. And I call you to witness that in that South country the freedman has already indicated in a great degree his fitness for the trust reposed in him, in public assemblages, in resolutions, in self-restraint, in quiet and manly demeanor through all.

Do you remember a parallel to the avidity with which this homely and despised people are seeking and using the means of education?

The official report (semi-annual) of J. W. Alvord, General Superintendent of Freedmen's Schools is before me, and I will add in illustration of this point a few facts from it. These facts cover the period commencing with the first day of July, 1866, and closing with that year. Mr. Alvord says: It will be seen that the whole number of officially reported in day schools, 1,630 teachers, and 77,908 pupils. But if we add irregular schools "within the knowledge" of the Superintendent, and Industrial schools, the number will be 1,699 schools, 1,658 teachers, and 90,343 pupils. Sabbath schools, as reported, are largely increased, and might be added to the above, there being 782 schools, with 70,610 pupils. A very large number, especially adults, go to Sabbath schools, who do not attend any other schools.

This, we think, is a very satisfactory showing, as it does not indicate any falling off since July last; and the schools in all directions are at this season of the year on the increase. Besides this, the study of books, indiscriminately, by the freedmen, to which we have alluded in previous reports, was never so wide-spread as at the present time. Adults have acquired confidence that they also can learn; even the aged are peering into those printed pages with some hope that knowledge is for them. Thousands of children who have become advanced are teaching parents and older members of the family; so that nearly every freedman's home in the land is a school house, and instead of scenes of sorrow or stupidity, perhaps of brainless mirth, whole families may be come pupils. The hitherto vacant minds, both of old and young, open with new ideas, and desperate brains is leap to life with the new found joy. We scarcely dare estimate the number who are at the present time in some process of elementary learning. To say that half a million of these poor people are now studying the spelling-book, or advanced readers, including the New Testament, who were but lately the degraded victims of slavery, would be a very low estimate.

There are 625 schools sustained wholly or in part by the freedmen, and 280 of the buildings in which these schools are taught are owned by themselves. There are also 508 Sabbath schools in operation, and in them with a large proportion of colored teachers, 15,425 colored pupils pay tuition, the amount of which per month is $11,277 66; and these self-supporting pupils are mainly from the recently emancipated population. Only 2,302 of all the above pupils, as reported, were free before the war.

Such facts show that this work is not always to be a charity or at government expense; that the freedmen are appreciating the value of education, and willing, when able, to pay for it; and in this, as in other matters, are making rapid strides towards entire self-support.

The number of high or normal schools is increasing. In these, promising youth are being fitted for usefulness as teachers, and who will be able at once to find employment in rural districts through all the south. Some of these normal schools have already reached a very creditable standard of attainment, though most of them are in their first stages.

Industrial schools are becoming more numerous, in which sewing, knitting, straw-braiding, cutting, repairing, and making garments are taught; and many teachers in the ordinary schools spend their spare time in imparting knowledge on domestic affairs from house to house.

The night schools are another interesting feature of our work. These are gathering increasing numbers of adults who now wake up to life in earnest, and who are thus preparatory to the responsibilities which have come so suddenly upon them.

All departments of instruction are assuming more practical shape, with special ends in view. The freedmen themselves are organizing a better social condition. Lyceums, debating societies, and benevolent institutions are not uncommon; and we believe, last in their moral, industrial, and political relations these people will not disappoint the expectations of their most sanguine friends.

It has been a question whether colored children will advance rapidly into the higher branches. We have hitherto answered this question theoretically; the practical reply now at hand is, that already in the above statement we have 25,57 pupils who are in writing, 12,500 in geography, 21,292 in arithmetic, and 1,373 in higher branches, in the above still rapidly progressing. And it is noteworthy that, of the 1,630 teachers in our day and night schools, 478 are colored persons.

I may add that the progress of these people here, under the eyes of the nation, is very encouraging. The attendance of pupils in the District colored schools is eighty per cent. of those enrolled. There are no less than 94 schools in operation. There are seventeen school buildings here owned by them. There are in these, 80 white and 12 colored teachers and 3,500 pupils. In addition to this there are 19 Sabbath Schools with 1851 pupils. There is also a normal school where 99 young men and women are in attendance learning how to teach. These statistics moreover do not include the private schools for colored children, of which there are several well attended and taught by colored teachers.

They have doubtless got used to keeping up schools, for you will bear in mind that the free blacks of this District have always paid their regular proportion of the school tax, but have not been allowed to send their children to school. In 1805, I think it was, Congress passed an act to remove this crying injustice and to guarantee to the coloured people the enjoyment of such schools as they actually supported; but Mayor Wallach, by some Dogberry decision, defeated the object of said Act. Now that the city hand carries the ballot, Wallach is putting a most liberal construction on the Act, and in view of a new election I am told will explain it. The world moves! Don't you feel it?

RADICAL.

Over-Eating.

Besides eating badly prepared food, and at wrong times, many people eat too much, yet the stomach is not a traveling bag which can carry all that can be stuffed into it, but a delicate machine which too little and too much food equally disturb, while the rare golden mean keeps it in healthy change from rest to work and back again, and makes it in turn keep the "10,000 strings" of body and mind in the nicest tension. A man who should put iron bars, sticks or dirt into a piece of nicely finished machinery would be counted a fool or a madman; yet men who employ trusty grooms and engineers to take the nicest care of their horses and steam engines—as well as many who own neither of these conveniences—treat their animal bodies in a cruel manner which should arouse Mr. Bergh to speechless wrath. They rudely awake their stomachs from rest to feed them when not hungry; they pour down fluids when not thirsty; they swallow things half masticated, as if the stomach could perform the functions of a gizzard; they cram their stomachs, they torture them, humiliate them, enrage them, make enemies of them, and force them into an alliance with an unrelenting Inquisitor bearing the name of dyspepsia.

There is not much practical use in telling people so, however, for they will all declare the statements very true, and then gulp down an ogre's dinner, for quantity, washing it into their stomachs with a rivulet of whatever fluid pleases themselves and the community they live in. Not many things are so common and popular as suicide—sometimes effected deliberately and consciously, but usually otherwise. People are all the while tapping away at the walls of their own bodies; bending the springs frequently to test their temper; loosening the screws and fastenings; thrusting in levers of their own to reverse the machinery and make it move another way; and exercising upon it to the full their ignorance, meddlesome curiosity and disposition to do just as they please with their own property—for it is their own, Mr. Ingoldsby Reade says—so that the durability of the machine is really its most wonderful characteristic. And so through some one of the little pin-holes which have been made, Death comes at last and thrusts a little pin—farewell!

Dr. Dio Lewis, well-known as a teacher of gymnastics, thinks he has devised a remedy for the particular vice of over-eating, and he writes to the Independent on the subject. He quotes from a number of physicians and others, who set forth the injurious effects of stomach stuffing. His remedy, which he emphasizes with capitals, and declares that has seen put into successful practice, is this rule: "Before you take the first mouthful, place upon your plate as much as you to eat, and eat but twice a day." The last direction is good in its way, but not calculated to be of service in repressing over-eating; the rest is worse than none, provided a person eats all he puts upon his plate, and it is useless if he does not. For if a person takes a seat at table, and finds himself having eaten, fills his plate, his eyes will very surely, in the country phrase, "be larger than his stomach," that is to say, his eager appetite, and not his judgment of quantities, will wield the spoon and the knife so that he will load his plate first and his stomach next.

There is a better rule yet—the only natural and effectual rule—which may be told in two words, eat slowly. Although the natural state seldom gorge themselves, except the larger snakes, for which this is natural. Nature gave a guide which would be always ready and safe if it were not spoiled by abuse; this guide is a person's own appetite, and the abuse of it is rapid eating. If only food be slowly eaten, slowly and thoughtfy masticated and mingled with the secretion of salivary glands, which in health are always equal to their task unless the use of tobacco has overstrained them, satiety will follow appetite at the precise moment when enough of food has been taken, and good digestion will follow both. But rapidly bolting half-masticated food fills the stomach long before it satisfies the appetite, and shortly after eating comes the anaconda-like feeling of fullness and torpor, in which men appear as animals, and to very poor advantage even as such. If the greatest epicure, the man with the most prodigious appetite, and the man who lives to eat, would but follow this simple rule of abstemiousness, they would in the end be able to eat a far greater quantity of food by being able to live longer to eat.—New York Gazette.

Ristori Done Up in Water Colors.

The reporter of the Montreal Gazette thus lyrically does up the queen of the Peanut Brigade, Ristori:

"She was the running streamlet in the green and flowery summer, high and away in the woodlands. In peaceful homes, her royal munificence was beautiful, full, bene-ficent, worthy of a great queen, as the lakes, deriving their grandeur from myriads of running streamlets, give character and generous utility to this magnificent country. Anon the current of passion, subverting the higher conscience, flowed down, and still down, carrying the royal attributes with it, until there was swift descent, a rapid, many rapids, a raging torrent, a Niagara. Then arose, grease out of the deep, distracted soul; the currents of life hearing, eddying, whirling, round and round in the cataract that has no bottom, or if a bottom, none known to living mortal. Yet amid all that wreck of mind, tumult, tempest, the combined dignities of woman and queen arose fitfully on the surface, like a mingling of summer sunshine with black scorinating thunder."

Peanuts and small beer! Ristori has erased her entire. We saw the artiste, but beyond an ordinary waterfall, failed to discover the streamlets, the cataracts, the torrents, the rapids, the currents, the tempests and bottomless whirlpools, which surrounded her in this gushing fellow's vision. We heard her, too. Her jargon could not help to rally us into ecstacy than a homeguard parade could work up an Italian organ grinder's trained monkey scratching the head of a ragged urchin could inspire us to poetical effusions. Those who were "re-doubtered" once by the Levant Queen can't send the weak and wishy-washy chaff presented by the critic of our Canada contemporary.

District Court.

Before Hon. H. W. Williams.

Egbert S. Ward vs. Theodore Noble and James B. Angell, impleaded with S. K. Kane and John Romer (as to the latter of whom the Sheriff returned the writ n. e. i.) partners as S. K. Kane & Co. Before reported. The jury found for the plaintiff and assessed the damages against S. K. Kane in the sum of $1,179 30.

Peter S. Weaver vs. Adam Weaver, impleaded with William Rodgers, owners of the steamboat Nevada. Case continued after a jury had been sworn, at the costs of the plaintiff.

William H. Voight vs. William H. Barker, garnishee of Charles Brown. Execution attachment. This was rather a singular case. During the summer of 1866 Chas. Brown was arrested on two charges of burglary, having entered and robbed the houses of Wm. H Voight, in Mount Washington, and Mr. Wykoff, in South Pittsburgh, taking money in each instance. When arrested one hundred and ninety-seven dollars in greenbacks, a new suit of clothing, and other articles, found in his possession, were taken charge of by W. H. Barker, Justice of the Peace in South Pittsburgh. Two indictments were found against Brown, on both of which he was convicted, and on the one in which Voight was prosecutor he was sentenced to five years imprisonment in the Penitentiary, sentence on the other, in which Wykoff was prosecutor, being suspended. The money taken from Voight was identified, except ten or fifteen dollars, by Voight. After being tried Brown confessed judgment in favor of Voight for four hundred dollars. Voight made demand on Justice Barker for the money and other effects taken from Brown with which Barker refused to comply, inasmuch as Wykoff also claimed the property. An execution attachment was therefore issued, whereupon a claimant for the money, not appear or the record as such, although J. R. Millen, Esq., who ostensibly appeared for the garnishee, represented the claimant. The question was as to whom the property attached belonged. Defense claimed that it did not belong to Brown, as he had stolen it, and asked the Court to charge the jury that if they believed from the evidence that the money attached in the hands of the garnishee were not the property of Brown, then their verdict should be for the defendant; and that if the jury believed the property to have been taken by Brown, then the title to the same was not in Brown, but under the act of Assembly is in the County of Allegheny, and the verdict should be for defendant.

The court held: Possession is prima facie evidence of ownership, and as there was no evidence in the case showing that the property and money attached actually belonged to any other person than the defendant in the judgment, as the property was in his house when attached. It was not claimed by any other person, and no evidence had been given calculated to show and identify it as the property of any particular person other than that of the defendant in the judgment. It certainly did not belong to the garnishee, and he has no right to hold it as his own as against Brown, from whom he took and received it. Even if the garnishee was claiming it, and showed any title to it, it would be a question for the jury to determine whether it belonged to the claimant, or whether it was the property of Brown at the date of the attachment. But no person was claiming it, and as against the garnishee the possession of Brown was prima facie evidence of ownership, which was not rebutted by the evidence in the case. There is nothing in the Act of Assembly which gives the title to property to the county of Allegheny, and if there was, the county was not claiming it. Under the evidence the plaintiff was entitled to the verdict of the jury for the money and property attached.

The counsel for defendant took an exception to this charge.

The jury found a verdict for the plaintiff for the money and property held by the garnishee, amounting to $1,179 30. M. Smith, Esq., appeared for the plaintiff.

Assault and Battery.—Daniel Sarver made information before Alderman Thomas, against Charles Good, for assault and battery. Good is the proprietor of a lager beer saloon on Pennsylvania avenue, and deponent alleges that he was pushed out violently and otherwise abused by defendant. On the hearing it was shown that there was nothing to sustain the allegations of prosecutor, hence the case was dismissed and prosecutor ordered to pay the costs.

The Hygeia Club of this city has accepted a challenge to play the Steubenville club a match game on Saturday of next week. The game will come off at Steubenville.

FINANCE AND TRADE,

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, May 3, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as reported by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 136¼; Eighty-one bonds, 110⅝; Five Twenties, 1862, 107¾; Five Twenties, 1864, 105¾; Five Twenties, 1865, 105¾; Consols, 1865, 107¼; Seven Thirties, 105⅝; Ten Forties, —; Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad, 71¾; Fort Wayne & Chicago, 97¼; Erie, 64; Chicago and North Western, 35⅝; Chicago and North Western prefrd, 62¼; Chicago and Rock Island, 89¾; New York Central, 98½; Reading, 103⅝; Michigan Southern, 68¾.

Gold opened at 136¾, but on the receipt of the intelligence that the the conference of the great powers was to meet on the 15th inst., instead of the 15th, it advanced at once to 136⅝, but afterwards receded to 136¼. In well informed circles the opinion prevails that the conference will solve the pending questions between Prussia and France peaceably, and that, in consequence, gold will take a downward turn. Large holders of gold or coupons are more disposed to sell than to hold. Government bonds were all firmer to-day, and advanced ¼ per cent, on gold bonds, but the business is quite light at the advanced rates, though money is very abundant, and capitalists are now attracted by the steadiness of our market. Most of our stocks have advanced from ½ to 3 cents, yet there are not signs of weakness, and, no doubt, higher prices are looked for, ere a serious reaction will take place. Fort Wayne & Chicago is now in a fair way to pay, and our prediction may become true, that before the 20th of June, (as was erroneously stated the 10th) that stock will be the highest of the entire market. North Western shares are strong, and a rise of from 3 to 4 per cent. is confidently looked for.

Closing quotations received by James T. Brady & Co:

—The increased activity in general trade which many expected upon the first opening of the forcing news has not been fully realized. The unpleasant weather is partly chargeable with this delay. A large amount of money will change hands about this time, and this will create a call for investment.

The New York market presents a little more animation in some departments, but there is no general improvement. The dry goods trade is moderately active, but the transactions are chiefly limited to small quantities to supply the demand for immediate distribution. The recent advance in price of the raw staples has checked the declining tendency in values of staple cotton goods, without stimulating any essential advance. Woolens of most descriptions remain inactive.

—Seventeen of the principal Railroad Companies earned, in the month of March, the gross amount of $5,708,102 against 5,756,661 in the corresponding month last year, showing an increase of $47,472. The number of miles of road operated by these companies was 7,204, against 6,570 at the same time last year, (Erie operating sixty-six miles less,) and the gross earnings per mile averaged $792 against $876 last year, showing an average increase per mile of $10. The largest increase was in Erie, namely, $440, and the largest decrease was in Illinois Central, namely, $185. The Chicago and Northwestern gained $133 per mile, and the Michigan Central an equal amount. The Illinois Central lost $224, and the Ohio and Mississippi $158. For the first three months of the year, the gross earnings of the sixteen roads were $16,071,818, against $16,231,752 for the corresponding quarter last year, the average per mile being $2,226, against $2,470 last year, showing a decrease of six dollars per mile.

—The Shoe and Leather National Bank at New York has been instructed by the Department to close up its affairs and wind up the doing of business anywhere but in the banking house of the corporation is forbidden by the National Banking Act, the sixth section of which enacts that the usual business of every National bank shall be "transacted at an office or banking house located in the place specified in its organization certificate." In conformity with the foregoing provision of the law, the branch referred to was closed yesterday. This is a hint that some Philadelphia banks, that do business away from their counters, would do well to profit thereby.—Phila. Ledger.

—A circular of the Internal Revenue office has been issued, calling attention to section 20 of the act of March 26, 1866, which enacts: That every National Banking Association, State Bank or Banker, or Association, shall pay a tax of 10 per centum on the amount of notes of any town or municipal corporation paid out by them after the first day of May, 1867, to be collected in the mode and manner in which the tax on the notes of state banks is collected; it is understood that there is a large amount of these notes in circulation, particularly in the Southern States, and assessors have been instructed to make assessments for said tax against the banks.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, May 3, 1867.

CRUDE—The market continues dull and neglected, with but little prospect at present of any immediate improvement. The only sales reported were: 5000 bbls for September, October and November delivery, seller's option, at 6½c; 1100 bbls, on spot, at 6¾c, and 50 bbls on the same figure. Some holders are asking 7c for spot oil, and 7¼c for June, but at present, there are no buyers above 6¾c, on spot, and but few, if any, above 7¼c for June. The foreign advices, both from Antwerp and Liverpool, continue unfavorable, and until there is a change for the better in those markets, no real or solid improvement need be looked for in this market. Oil is reported scarce and firm at Oil City, which may be attributed to the fact that there are a good many Cleveland buyers, and besides, the tanks at that point are reported pretty well drained, the owners are not anxious to fill up again at present prices. This will only be temporary, however, and it is absurd to suppose that producers are anxious to there unless there is a change for the better at other points. If Pittsburgh buyers hold off, the tanks will soon be filled again, and the Cleveland buyers, too, and then, unless something unforeseen now, turns up, such as a material falling off in the production or a largely increased consumption, both here and in Europe, prices will probably rule lower than they have yet been this year.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil is quiet and unchanged. Sales of a "nail" for 500 bbls standard white, at 28½, buyer advancing one dollar per barrel; also, 1000 bbls, same conditions and price, and 1000 bbls for June delivery, at 27¾c—all to be delivered in Philadelphia. Spot oil may be quoted, in the absence of sales, at 26c, for prime light straw to white, on board cars here, and 21 for standard white. Free oil is quiet and unchanged.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, May 3, 1867.

The excitement in the Chicago markets in regard to Flour and Grain, was the chief topic of conversation in commercial circles to-day, and a telegram received at noon reports a still further advance, which would indicate that the end is not yet. In our market there is no special excitement, though another advance in Flour seems almost inevitable. Other articles remain quiet and unchanged.

GRAIN—No movement in Wheat. Corn is firm and tending upward; sale of 1 car Shelled at $1,10—an offer to buy reported at $1,11. Oats in fair demand and firm; may be quoted at 62 to 63c. Corn Meal, 65c, delivered; small sales at the usual advance. Rye is in demand at $1,60, with but little offering. Barley is firm and in demand, but too irregular to quote correctly.

FLOUR—Is considerably excited, and prices are tending upward, though, as yet, there has been no quotable advance. We continue to quote at $14½ to $15 for Spring Wheat; $15½ to $16½ for Winter Wheat; and $18 to $20 for fancy St. Louis brands. Rye Flour firm at $9,50.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is quiet and unchanged—8½ to 10c for Shoulders; 11¾c to 12½c for Ribbed and Clear Sides; 13c for Plain Hams; 15½c for Plain Sugar Cured, and 16½ to 18½c for Canvassed. Dried Beef, 22½c. Lard, 13. Mess Pork, $23 to $23,50 per barrel.

OIL—Lard Oil is steady, with regular sales by manufacturers at 87 to 90c for No. 2, and $1,08 to $1,10 for No. 1.

MILL FEED—Is scarce and firm. Sale of 15 tons Middlings, on track, at $2,25. Seconds may be quoted at $2, and Shorts at $1,90 to $1,75 per cwt.

POTATOES—Dull and round lots are offering at a decline, while in a small way, prices remain unchanged—85 to 90c for prime Peach Blows in store. Sale of 60 bbls at $2,85 per bbl.

BUTTER—Continues dull, and with liberal arrivals, prices are tending downward. We continue to quote good to strictly prime fresh Roll at 25@30c.

EGGS—In rather better supply and a little dull, but unchanged at 18@20.

GREEN APPLES—Dull and nominally unchanged—sales at $3 to $5 per bbl, as to quality.

DRIED FRUIT—Continues dull but unchanged—small sales at 8 to 9c for Apples, and 16c to 18c for Peaches.

HAY—Is quiet and unchanged—small sales of prime baled in store at $28 to $30 per ton.

PITTSBURGH METAL AND BLOOM MARKET—WEEKLY REVIEW.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, May 3, 1867.

The transactions in metal during the past week have not been as large as generally supposed, notwithstanding the majority of the mills have started up, and the market is reported dull and depressed—at least the commission men say so, and they ought to know. The operations, however meagre, have been larger than for some weeks past, for the reason that instead of having been effected, one of a thousand tons, but the parties interested refused to give figures for the same, but known to themselves. It is safe to say, however, that no advance has been established, and buyers seem pretty confident that prices will decline, but if there is no certainty for the present at least, notwithstanding the indications at the present time point in that direction. The demand for foreign iron, also, is very light, there being but little life in that department of trade, and the sales are confined to and of an unimportant character. The inquiry for Blooms is also light, and the market is dull with a drooping tendency. Material Blooms are quoted at from $180 to $185, but it is understood that sales had been made as low as $95.

RIVER NEWS.

The river is again receding slowly at this point with fourteen feet in the channel by the Monongahela marks, while the Allegheny marks indicate fifteen feet. The weather yesterday was cool and pleasant, and all that could possibly be desired for the transaction of out-door business.

The river is again in excellent condition for the coal fleet, but unfortunately, there is but comparatively little coal ready. The following named boats have gone or will get off to-day.

	Bushels.
Cincinnati—Lioness	95,000
do Fearless	95,000
Louisville—Coal Hill	140,000
do Warner	100,000
do Mary Ann	100,000
do Wild Cat	100,000
do Grey Hound	110,000
Total	660,000

The Grey Hound stuck her tow at the head of Braunot's Island, and was still sticking there at last accounts. The tow belonged to the Messrs. Watson's and Duffey & Co.

The Robt. Moore, for Portsmouth, is the only arrival and departure we have to notice, aside from the regular packets. There are no transient boats due, and therefore it is probable that the Argosy, from Cincinnati, and the Kenton, from New Orleans, will
